SCHOOL OF EXTENDED EDUCATION

"Continuous improvement cannot simply be a mantra, it must be actualized through education. From a one-hour webinar to a 10-course certificate, the School of Extended Education is poised to be your partner in education throughout your career."

Ricardo Lorenzana
Dean
Brandman School of Extended Education

ABOUT US

Brandman University is an accredited, private, nonprofit university designed for the adult learner. The School of Extended Education provides individuals and organizations with cutting edge programs and services focused on professional and workforce development.

Why Brandman?

- Our programs:
- Use cutting-edge technology
 - Are taught by scholar practitioners and experts in their fields
 - Incorporate the latest teaching strategies to produce the leaders of tomorrow

“Brandman has been an invaluable partner in the development of our future law enforcement leaders. We are proud to have them as a training partner.”

Bob Peterson
Undersheriff
Orange County Sheriff's Department

School of Extended Education

Our strong heritage of academic excellence combined with our dedication to the practical application of knowledge allow us to deliver innovative programming that is current, relevant, and aligned with the goals of our students and partner organizations. With certificates, industry certifications, and academic and professional development credits available, our programs provide the skills needed to achieve success.

Awards

Winner of the Leadership 500 Excellence Awards for outstanding custom leadership development certificate programs for two consecutive years.

Winner of the UPCEA West Engagement Award for workforce innovation information technology certificates.

Winner of the ACHE Creative Use of Technology Award for our competency-based professional learning portfolio for K-12 educators.

Guiding Principles

Employer Driven

Our dynamic programs are built by the joint effort of Brandman faculty and industry experts through a series of collaborative employer advisory boards and economic development agencies. This multi-dimensional approach ensures the latest practices and employer defined skill sets are incorporated into student learning outcomes.

The model leverages practical application and provides sustainable educational solutions that adjust to ever-changing workforce needs.

Dedicated to Adult Learners

Through our training and personal life experiences we understand that learning is not confined to the classroom or a single instance, but rather is a lifelong enrichment process. At Brandman, our School of Extended Education recognizes this ongoing phenomenon and seeks to provide the ideal environment that incorporates scholarship and employability.

We are dedicated to helping adult learners expand their knowledge, move up the pay scale and explore new career options.

Accreditation

Featured K12 District Partners

Teachers currently participating in professional development programs through the Orange County Department of Education, such as Induction, Career and Technical Education (CTE), Leading Edge Certification, GLAD training and other programs can earn graduate-level professional development credits for their work.

Oro Grande School District teachers are participating in Brandman's CTC-approved CTEL authorization course sequence. The district's Riverside Preparatory School partners with Brandman to provide an online Dual Credit program for their high school students.

Teachers participating in selected San Diego County Office of Education courses can earn credit for Added Authorizations, Preliminary Administrative Credentialing, and professional development courses.

Teachers in the Sacramento County Office of Education participate in Brandman's early childhood education courses to satisfy the requirements of the county's Quality Rating and Improvement System.
